

GREYWIND

Greywind are siblings Steph and Paul O'Sullivan from Killarney, Ireland. The duo uploaded a demo version of their debut single "Afterthoughts" on their social media pages back in July 2014, which got immediately picked up by BBC Radio 1 punters Daniel P. Carter and Zane Lowe and started getting heavy airplay on daytime radio.

Off the back of the success of this single track, the band got signed by Raw Power Management and signed their first record deal. This year, the band have released four singles including 'Forest Ablaze' which premiered on BBC Radio 1's rock show and VEVO, getting over 70K views only in the first week of release. Their single Save Haven has had over 220k streams on Spotify alone, with over half a million streams combined over 5 tracks.

The band embarked on their first ever tour this year with Mooseblood on their 10-date sold-out UK tour, followed by a run of UK and Irish festivals, including Slam Dunk Festival, The Great Escape, Independence festival and more. They have since then gone on to support Thrice at the Forum, played to a full tent at Reading & Leeds, and toured with Farro.

The album is out Jan 27th with the band playing their first ever headline show at London's Saint Pancras Church as a celebration.
